

VizyPay provides body shop a simple solution.

Before VizyPay, we had been with the same credit card processor for a long time. We knew we could save on fees but most importantly, we knew there was equipment out there that was more simple to use.

One of the biggest concerns with switching processors was the time it would take. When discussing options, we spoke with the same VizyPay rep every time, so we trusted the relationship we quickly built. After deciding on a program, we were set up and processing within two days. If anyone at the body shop has a question, we are confident that all it would take is a quick call to find the solution we need.

The support at VizyPay is extremely accommodating. They helped us get our equipment set up on our schedule and even walked us through each step. They were very patient and informational about all our needs.

In addition to the service and support, Sigourney Body Shop saves an average of $350 a month on processing fees, amounting to $4,200 per year.

Beyond the credit card processing, VizyPay is there to support small businesses and be their partner. We own a business in a small town where community involvement is essential, and we want to partner with a company that shares those same values.
